and the agencies that provide those services.

Delivering Excellence Every Day

Message from the Director

I am proud to place the Miami-Dade County Corrections and Rehabilitation Department's Resource Guide for 2009 into your hands. These resources, along with your character and commitment to living a law abiding lifestyle, will ensure that you never return to incarceration.

As you know, many ex-offenders are re-arrested within the first 12 months after their release. This is the most critical time that you will likely face as your freedom is restored. Allow me to encourage you to reach out to the organizations and people listed in this guide. These organizations are staffed with people who care about you and your successful return to our community. They will do everything in their power to see that you succeed. Continue to improve your life and lives of your loved ones each day.

I want to especially recognize the leadership of Mayor Carlos Alvarez, Commissioner Rebeca Sosa and the entire Board of County Commissioners as they continue to demonstrate their commitment to offenders returning home successfully. Furthermore, special thanks goes out to the Miami-Dade Reentry Task Force for their leadership in bringing the various facets of our community together to create a community wide collaboration to provide reentry services to every offender reentering our community.

Timothy P. Ryan, Director
Miami-Dade Corrections and Rehabilitation Department

ALCOHOL AND OTHER DRUG ABUSE TREATMENT

If you need help for an alcohol or other drug related problem and do not have insurance or the ability to pay, the phone number listed below can direct you to places that may help. Whether you are in need of an assessment, sober housing, a support group like Alcoholics Anonymous, or a treatment program, there is hope!

Dial 211 – Miami-Dade Community Resource Directory (Operates 24 hours)

To help you understand your options, the following information may be helpful for you or someone you know:

- Agencies that offer treatment provide an assessment as a first step. An assessment involves collecting information from you to help determine if treatment is needed and if so, what type.
- Detox helps remove your body's physical need for alcohol or specific other drugs. This is only needed and available in certain cases. Services are generally offered over a 3 to 7 day period.
- Inpatient or residential treatment programs require that you stay at the treatment center while you are involved in the program. Stays can last 30 days or longer.
- Day treatment programs do not require you to live at the treatment center, but they have a schedule that is similar to an inpatient or residential treatment program. You generally have to attend the program every weekday for a full day.
- Outpatient treatment programs do not require you to live at the treatment center and do not require as much time as day treatment. Services can range from a few hours per week to 3 hours per day, 3 days a week, for several weeks.
- Counseling is generally offered on a one-to-one basis. Counseling services usually have a specific focus and sessions are scheduled at mutually convenient times.
- Relapse prevention programs offer structured support (generally 1-2 hours per week) for people who have completed treatment and want additional help to maintain an alcohol and drug free lifestyle.
